

PIA MECHLER | BIOGRAPHY

After having spent some time in Paris Pia studied media-oriented drama at the renowned European Film College in Denmark. In 2005, after her graduation, she moved to Berlin and during a shooting of a short film on the street, the director Christine Wiegand approached and hired her. While she shot in Cologne, she also commuted to Portugal again and again, to perform with her college band MAU. Founded during her time at university and more or less a party gag her band MAU eventually signed a deal on Universal as a pop electro band. After two years with ever more increasing roles for film and television she heavy-heartedly parted with MAU. In 2007, she got the urge to travel again. Full of adventure she hit the road to discover the English performing arts and film business. After only four days, she had her first casting and soon her first role in the English TV film COLOUR OF MAGIC. Then in 2008, her first independent cinema film in London followed: her performance in INVISIBLE EYES brought her raving reviews from the critics.
