

LUCIA CHIARLA | BIOGRAPHY

Lucia Chiarla, born in Genoa, completed her training at the Paolo Grassi School of Performing Arts in Milan. She also studied literature with a focus on theatre and cinema at the University of Genoa. In Italy she worked as an actress in city theatres and film productions and began her work as a screenwriter in Rome. Her first film BYE BYE BERLUSCONI! (screenwriter and actress) was shown at the Berlinale (Panorama) in 2006. In 2006 she moved to Berlin with her son, where she continued her education at the Script Academy of the Dekra School and continued to work in theatre and film productions. Lucia Chiarla made her debut as a feature film director in 2018 with the film REISE NACH JERUSALEM. The film premiered at the Max Ophüls Prize competition and won the award for best feature film at the Achtung Berlin film festival, among others. In the first Lockdown 2020, she founded the film collective Primavera Productions, with which she conceived and produced the film "Primavera Duemilaventi (Spring 2020)". The film won the German-language film critics' prize in the FIPRESCI – Filmkunstfest MV 2021. She is currently preparing her next feature film with the production company OstLicht.
